

In Its Next Step Towards Ease of Doing Business, the IT Ministry Along with ... - Latest Tweet by IANS India

The latest Tweet by IANS India states, 'In its next step towards ease of doing business, the IT Ministry along with Department of Telecom announced to exempt mobile phones, smart watches and other widely used electronics products from mandatory testing to avoid regulatory overlap.'

Socially Team Latestly | Apr 30, 2022 07:50 PM IST

IANS India News Service

IANS ✓

@ians_india

In its next step towards ease of doing business, the IT Ministry (@GoI_MeitY) along with Department of Telecom (@DoT_India) announced to exempt mobile phones, smart watches and other widely used electronics products from mandatory testing to avoid regulatory overlap.

7:48 PM · Apr 30, 2022

♥ 2 💬 Reply ↗ Share

Explore what's happening on Twitter

(SocialLY brings you all the latest breaking news, viral trends and information from social media world, including Twitter, Instagram and Youtube. The above post is embeded directly from the user's social media account and LatestLY Staff may not have modified or edited the content body. The views and facts appearing in the social media post do not reflect the opinions of LatestLY, also LatestLY does not assume any responsibility or liability for the same.)