Lucknow: The three-day long Global Investors Summit (GIS-2023) set to begin on February 10 will be a zero-waste event with the government deputing 1,150 sanitation workers and putting up 100 steel dustbins at the venue.

Also, 250 toilets have been constructed at the venue in Vrindavan Yojna, officials informed chief secretary DS Mishra during a review meeting.

The CS said during the event, common people should not face any traffic problems so along with the main VVIP route, alternate routes should also be readied.

To ensure that visitors reach the venue from their hotels on time, a route map along with time taken to reach the venue from their location should be made available at the hotel reception. Drivers should also be briefed about the routes they are to take and where they are to park their vehicles. The government has arranged 45 hotels and three tent cities for the stay of delegates.

“Information regarding route diversions should be publicised on social media and in print. Resident welfare associations should also be informed of route diversions. A public advisory should be issued before the arrival of the President and Prime Minister and we should appeal to people to avoid using VVIP routes. Mechanics and cranes should be kept ready in case there are any vehicle breakdowns,” the CS said.
