Lucknow: In an investor-friendly development, the UP government on Friday announced that the Nivesh Mitra portal, which works as a single window system for application and clearance of projects, will also facilitate distribution of incentives to investors.

The online incentive management system will start taking applications in the system soon and an applicant will be able to review the status within 15 days after applying for the incentive. However, the money will be distributed once the app-

The IT department of the state has been asked to take necessary steps to make the online incentive management system universally accessible, technology enabled and multidimensional without human intervention.

“As soon as the application form for obtaining departmental incentive and concession is submitted through the online incentive management system, the concerned officers of the nodal department will see it in their log-in account. They will be able to send the applications to other departments for opinion,” said the officer. After verification, the nodal department can select those applications that need to be included in the agenda note and send the same to the competent level authorised committee.
