Lucknow: The Indian Institute of Management-Indore (IIM-I) and APJ Abdul Kalam Technical University will work together to train UP's women in financial literacy, entrepreneurship and leadership. An MoU was signed between the two institutes on Monday.

"We will make at least two AKTU teachers nodal officers in each district. These teachers, preferably of MBA courses, will be trained by IIM-I on how to train women. Thereafter, they will be reaching out to around 100-200 women in their respective districts to transform these women into successful leaders and entrepreneurs," said IIM-I director prof Himanshu Rai.

"We will train women who are skilled in chikankari, handicraft, or any other skill but are unaware of the potential they have, the market and the amount of recognition and financial rewards they deserve for their skills. Also, both institutes will work on entrepreneurship development and incubation centres," he said. TNN
