“The state is setting new yardsticks for industrial development and economic progress. India is often described as a land of unity in diversity, encompassing various languages, cultures and cuisines while fostering a common identity. Similarly, Uttar Pradesh’s industrial sector displays diversity, spanning education, farming, services, IT, data centres, artificial intelligence and medical tourism. Investments are pouring into every sector, leading to establishment of new industrial units. Although Uttar Pradesh’s industrial landscape is diverse, concerted efforts are directed towards transforming the state into a trillion-dollar economy,” Nandi said.

He said UP has implemented a new industrial policy that outlines sector-specific strategies.

“These policies have been crafted by addressing the needs and challenges of different sectors. Stakeholders’ inputs were also incorporated, resulting in the formulation of effective policies,” he said.
