

How to live with Covid: No more mass testing & positive case counting, no more lockdowns, build up medical capacity, normalise

“What the caterpillar calls the end, the rest of the world calls the butterfly” – Lao Tzu.

Following the devastating second Covid wave and in preparation for the third, we converted over a thousand beds at our Health City in Bengaluru to ICU beds in order to take care of sick patients. Now, despite our institutional positivity crossing 50%, we only have 29 patients in our ICU and the situation is no different in other parts of the country. Most Covid ICU beds are empty.
