participate in the project of making "New India" a prosperous and powerful country.

Addressing investors from all over the world, the CM invited them to join "New India's New Uttar Pradesh" in its journey towards growth and development by participating in the GIS. The UP government has set a target of getting investments to the tune of Rs 10 lakh crore through this event in which more than 300 investors from India and abroad are likely to participate.

The CM said that as of now, 21 countries have expressed interest in participating in the event while Netherlands, Denmark, Singapore, United Kingdom and Mauritius have agreed to be partner countries for the programme. For reaching out to investors directly, the state government will be holding roadshows in 18 countries and seven cities across India.

During the event, the CM also released a booklet detailing UP's sectoral policies and investment possibilities.

The Online Incentive Management Portal and Customer Relationship Management Portal called 'Nivesh Sarathi' was also formally launched by the chief minister.
