Lucknow: Jal Shakti minister Swatantra Dev Singh, who led the delegation that just returned after holding roadshows in Australia and Singapore ahead of Global Investors' Summit-2023 in UP, said that foreign investors were very excited about investing in UP.

Stating that the world had faith in endless possibilities of new UP, the Jal Shakti minister said that UP was emerging as the first choice for investors under the guidance of Prime Minister Narendra Modi and chief minister Yogi Adityanath. "Investors from several countries are now keen to invest in UP," the minister tweeted while welcoming the interest shown by domestic and foreign investors in UP.

"A major reason for growing interest to invest in UP was the better law and order, improved education system, better health services and expanding infrastructure. Following the PM's mantra of 'reform, perform and transform', UP has emerged as a growth engine for new India. India is also a favoured destination for investment by foreign investors. The growing interest in investing in UP is a sign of trust which foreign investors are showing in the state," the minister said, adding that UP was making every effort to meet their expectations, including providing a safe environment for carrying out trade.

He said that the delegations saw a massive interest among people in Netherlands, Denmark, Singapore, Australia, France, UK and Mauritius to invest in UP. "They are very keen to participate in the GIS-2023, attracted to the state due to the government's policies and strong law and order," he added.
