Lucknow: Investors who attended the Hyderabad roadshow on Wednesday said that there have been a lot of positive changes in Uttar Pradesh over the past few years. Around 25 investors attended the programme and appreciated the sectoral policies implemented by the state government to promote industries.

The team for the fifth domestic roadshow was headed by deputy chief minister Brajesh Pathak, women welfare minister Baby Rani Maurya, minister of state for environment Arun Kumar Saxena and Ayush minister Daya Shankar Mishra.

Chief financial officer of AIG Hospitals, Mukesh Kumar Singh said that his company was excited to invest in UP because of the improved expressways, airports and road connectivity. He said that the law and order of the state had also improved tremendously.

CEO of Pulsus Group, Srinibabu Gadela said that UP had made tremendous progress in the field of healthcare and agriculture. He said: "We are witnessing the state's growth and are ready to be a part of it. CM Yogi Adityanath himself has conveyed this message to us that our investment is safe in UP. We hope that we will work in UP for a long time and take UP forward with us."

Instashield India Pvt Ltd founder directors CS Jadhav and Hitesh M Patel said that they were encouraged to invest in UP because of the way the government was promoting innovative ideas. NSL Group chairperson M Prabhakar Rao described UP as an important state in terms of agriculture and said that in the past 10 years of working in the state, they saw the state develop. "Investors who are already there, are now thinking in terms of expanding their businesses. We have a setup in Noida and the way the government has controlled the law and order situation in that area is really commendable. This has brought a lot of relief to IT companies operating there," he said.

Adding that UP had become a 'state of hopes' CVK Technologies Pvt Ltd chairperson KC Venkateswarlu said: "In the current scenario, we feel that the cities of UP have immense potential, whether it is Noida, Greater Noida, Ghaziabad, Lucknow or others. The way these cities have developed is encouraging. We are looking for opportunities in the IT sector. Investors like us are also going to be greatly benefited by the policy reforms made by the government for the investors," Venkateswarlu said.
