BEGINNING HIS two-day visit to Mumbai where he will meet leaders of India Inc in a bid to attract investments, Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Wednesday said he is keen to get a semiconductor fabrication unit in the state, and he will be successful in getting one during the Global Investors Summit, scheduled to be held in Lucknow between February 10 and 12).

"Country's 45 per cent of mobile manufacturing is in Uttar Pradesh, and also 50 per cent of mobile repairing. The country's first display manufacturing unit was set up in UP. If we have to grow in the area of ITMS (Information technology for Manufacturing Systems) then semiconductor is required, and you will see something related to that in this investor summit... you will see that we will be successful in attracting a semiconductor Fab unit in UP," he said.

To tap big investors to boost the economic development and growth in his home state, Adityanath said his state has very good law and order now and offers opportunities to everyone.

The chief minister also said that the state is looking to develop various clusters in several parts of the state. "There will be clusters of industrial development, MSME, education, pharma, medical device, and textile parks. UP has a huge potential even in the services sector," he said.

Addressing prominent people from UP settled in Mumbai, the CM said "the new Uttar Pradesh" does not run away from challenges. "You all have been witness to the changes that have taken place in UP in the last five to six years. Uttar Pradesh, which was facing an identity crisis five years ago, is telling a new story of development today... Youths of Uttar Pradesh no more hide their identity and say with pride that 'I am from Uttar Pradesh'," he said.
