Lucknow: It was a euphoric moment for visitors at the GIS venue when country's noted rock band—Euphoria—led by its lead vocalist Palash Sen took the stage on Sunday.

Cheering loudly for the 'maeri' singer, audience, be it women or men, rushed towards the stage to catch a glimpse of their favourite singer.

Breaking all barricading at the venue, public was seen recording the performance on their cell phones.

As Sen belted out his hit numbers and dropped his shirt off the stage, the cheering and applause broke all decibel levels.

GIS venue opened for public for 2 days

Given the public interest in the Global Investors Summit, the state government has announced free entry of people to the venues and exhibition halls at Vrindavan Yojana on February 13 and 14.

The evening began with an Alha performance by Sheelu Rajpoot. It was followed by a Mayur dance by a group led by Manika. Depicting the love of Radha and Krishna in the performance, the dancers in colourful attires with peacock feathers on their back were constantly applauded by the audience.

Later, acclaimed Kathak exponent Pt Anuj Mishra of Lucknow Gharana along with other performers took 108 continuous chakkars (rounds) leaving the audience in an awe. The event ended with a performance Krishnam. The group was led by Krishnalata from Mathura. The audience applauded and cheered the artistes from beginning till the end.
