The event was inaugurated by PM while President Droupadi Murmu was the chief guest at the closing ceremony. Officials said preparations have already begun for the groundbreaking ceremony and Indira Gandhi Pratishthan in Lucknow is among the venues being considered for the programme.

"The government is holding talks with investors with whom MoUs were signed during the UPGIS regarding their participation in the groundbreaking ceremony," said a government spokesperson. "Those who are ready to execute their investment proposals immediately will be provided a platform through this ceremony. Discussions have started with such investors and their names are likely to be finalized soon," said a govt spokesperson.

He said details regarding proposals, land requirement, subsidies for each such investor were being collected and added that directions had also been issued to all development authorities and district magistrates to ensure availability of land for the projects.

An official in the CM office said that various ministers have been tasked with ensuring that projects are grounded. Each MoU that was signed under the UPGIS umbrella is being monitored by senior officials. An Investment Implementation Unit is being setup in each department and will be headed by a secretary level officer. These units will be responsible for ensuring implementation of all MoUs signed under their departments.

Officials of the level of special secretary and above have been given the responsibility of monitoring the investments sector wise.

A call centre will be started soon to assist foreign investors.

"Officials have been asked to review every MoU from time to time and have been directed to maintain continuous contact with the investors," said an official.
