Yogi asked the public representatives to give written complaints about officials who show reluctance in implementing public welfare schemes floated by govt and assured definite action against such officials.

The public representatives openly shared their views with the CM in these meetings. "Besides listening to their grievances, the CM also gave them the mantra for victory in the 2027 UP elections," said a BJP spokesperson and added that the CM has asked MPs, MLAs, and MLCs to focus on dialogue, activism, and social media to connect with the public.

"CM asked people's representatives to convey the development works being done in their constituencies to the public and maintain constant contact with beneficiaries of various schemes. He also asked party MLAs to dispel the rumours spread by the opposition which destroy the social fabric," the spokesman said.

The CM also stressed establishing contact and communication with the youth and women's organizations in their respective areas. "Tell the youth that govt jobs are being provided in an unbiased manner without any discrimination on the basis of caste and religion. Establish contact with youth who have got jobs. Along with this, maintain constant contact with the influential section of society," Yogi told the representatives. Yogi advised all public representatives to start preparing for the 2027 assembly elections. He stressed analyzing the voting trend in respective areas closely and preparing an action plan accordingly.
