GORAKHPUR: Chief minister Yogi Adityanath on Saturday said Uttar Pradesh will soon realise the goal of 'one district, one medical college'.

Underscoring his government's efforts, the CM stressed on the need for strengthening healthcare services in all medical colleges. He emphasised quality research and innovation along with technical upgradation for medical staff to uplift the healthcare system.

Yogi expressed these views while addressing a gathering after distributing 483 laptops among MBBS students and paramedical staff at BRD Medical College, Gorakhpur. Earlier in the day, he reached here on a two-day visit.

The laptops were presented under Swami Vivekananda Youth Empowerment Scheme. He said a number of new medical colleges had come up in various districts and that two new medical colleges—one each in Ballia and Balrampur—will be set up soon. The CM said new medical colleges in Shamli and Sambhal would also start their academic session from this year. As per him, Uttar Pradesh will give admission to 10,500 MBBS seats from this year.
