Meerut: Residents of Meerut should brace for a major infrastructural boost. While several key projects like the Regional Rapid Transit System (RRTS) have opened, many road development plans are still underway in the city, which is close to the NCR region. Taking note of that, Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Sunday appreciated the efforts of the BJP-led "double-engine governments" to develop Meerut.

According to the Chief Minister, Meerut has achieved the best connectivity in the country during the past 10 years. The CM also listed a number of projects that will transform the city in the coming few years. He said that the country's first regional rapid transit system has begun running between Delhi and Meerut. Apart from that, a 12-lane expressway has also been thrown open for commuters, strengthening connectivity with its neighboring cities.

CM Adityanath mentioned that the cconstruction of the Ganga Expressway from Meerut to Prayagraj is in the final stages. It was decided in the budget to extend the expressway from Meerut and Haridwar in Uttarakhand, he added. The state's first sports university, to be named after hockey legend Dhyan Chand, is being built in Meerut.

Meerut Academic Role

CM Adityanath also conducted an on-site inspection of Major Dhyan Chand Sports University in Meerut district and reviewed the progress of the construction work. He said the university would play a big role in taking the state forward. He also said 2025 would mark the beginning of classes at the university, with its campus likely to be completed by November.
