Ganga expressway News: While presenting the budget, Uttar Pradesh Finance Minister Sanjeev Khanna stated that the government is dedicated to giving a boost to the infrastructure of the state. He said that several of the roads and expressways will be built in multiple districts to connect them to the capital city, Lucknow, and other major cities of the state and country.

Saharanpur is one of the districts for which the government has announced several schemes. The government stated that the Ganga Expressway has been included in the budget to provide convenience to the residents and boost the infrastructure of the district. While providing details, the authorities stated that the city will get connectivity through the route via Lakhnaur.

Apart from this, the Maa Shakambhari Corridor has also been included in this budget to reduce the traffic congestion in the city. The budget has also been allocated for cleaning of canals and other works. The officials also stated that a provision of Rs 1 crore has also been made for the Shiv Mandir in village Jehra, adding that the work on this is expected to start soon.

The government has also allocated Rs 123 crore in the budget for the road connecting the bridge built by the Haryana government on the Nangli Ghat of the Yamuna River near Nasrullagarh to UP. This will facilitate the residents who travel to Haryana on a daily basis and will also give a financial boost to the region. Apart from this, the construction of a forensic lab in the district will enable timely testing of samples, giving a major boost to the healthcare sector of the region.

Earlier on Saturday, the National Highway Authority of India (NHAI) officials stated that the Delhi-Dehradun Expressway will provide a great convenience to the residents of not only these two cities but also the other cities. The officials stated that the expressway will provide assistance to the residents of Uttar Pradesh's Saharanpur, adding that apart from cutting the travel time, the expressway will give a boost to the financial sector of the district.
