Lucknow: Praising Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath for widespread development in Uttar Pradesh in the past eight years, World Bank president Ajay Banga on Thursday said strong law enforcement and “unprecedented improvements” in infrastructure have made the state an ideal place for investment.

“It feels like I’ve come back home,” Banga said, noting his connection to the state through his in-laws. In Lucknow after 12 years for a visit to review ongoing World Bank projects, Banga said he observed a remarkable transformation across all sectors. He also praised the robust connectivity in the state, commending the CM’s “vision, energy and determination” for UP’s development story.
