

UP displays investor-friendly ecosystem at textile expo

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Lucknow: Uttar Pradesh demonstrated its commitment to industrial development and textile innovation by participating in the Gartex Texprocess India 2025 expo in Mumbai from May 22-24. The expo, a leading platform for garment and textile machinery in India, provided a valuable opportunity for the state to showcase its growth potential and advancements in the textile sector.

An official spokesperson said, "The state delegation highlighted its investor-friendly ecosystem, robust infrastructure, and forward-looking policies to attract new investments into the textile sector." The state was represented by Shashank Chaudhary, ACEO,

Invest UP, and KP Verma, joint commissioner of handloom and textiles department, along with others. They said, "The officials engaged in strategic discussions with domestic and international stakeholders. The productive one-on-one interactions with key textile associations helped strengthen alliances, attract investment, and position UP as India's key textile manufacturing hub." The spokesperson said that as part of UP's resolve to become a one trillion dollar economy, the delegation promoted key initiatives, including PM MITRA Park, world-class industrial corridors, and comprehensive policy frameworks designed to support textile manufacturing, machinery plants, and integrated textile parks.
