

UP govt to launch e-courts for swift labour justice

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE

LUCKNOW, 3 JUNE

The Uttar Pradesh government is all set to introduce e-courts to expedite resolution of labour-related cases in the state.

Notably, Uttar Pradesh's Labour Department is introducing transformative reforms to protect workers' rights and boost industrial growth. A new inspection policy and fast-track dispute resolution system are ensuring a fair, transparent, and business-friendly environment – positioning the state as a thriving industrial hub.

Officials said here on Tuesday that to ensure timely and effective resolution of labour issues, the government is prioritising amicable settlements of industrial disputes. Special attention is being paid to expediting cases related to gratuity, employee compensation, minimum wages, timely wage payments, equal remuneration, maternity benefits, and working journalists.

To ensure justice and accountability, 100 per cent compliance with labour court and tribunal decisions is being enforced. An e-court system is also being introduced to bring greater transparency, fairness, and efficiency to dispute resolution through digital technology.
