Lucknow: The cabinet on Tuesday approved the development of 49 bus stations of the Uttar Pradesh State Road Transport Corporation (UPSRTC) under the public-private partnership (PPP) mode and based on the DBFOT (Design, Build, Finance, Operate and Transfer) model.

Transport minister Dayashankar Singh said the cabinet approved three proposals submitted by the transport corporation.

The other two proposals were about providing land free of cost for construction of bus stations in Narora in Bulandshahr, and Tulsipur and Sikandra-rao tehsils in Balrampur and Hathras, respectively.

The development of 23 bus stations under the first phase was approved in the previous year.

“Passengers at these bus stations will have access to state-of-the-art amenities, like shopping malls and cinema halls,” said the minister.
